Dear Parents/Carers,

Courtwood's Reading for Pleasure February Reading Event

After receiving requests from the children to restart our reading events, I am excited to announce this half term's 'Reading for Pleasure' event, which will be taking place throughout the day on Friday 2nd February 2024.

During this event, all the children will have an opportunity to recommend and share a favourite book with their peers and will also be able to listen to other children's book recommendations. They will leave the session with a list of suggested 'book matches' to read at home.

At Courtwood, one of our aims is for pupils to develop, practice and apply a range of behaviours which equip them to be successful learners now and in the future and we hope this will be a great way to widen our children's knowledge of a range of different authors and genres.

Unfortunately, adults are unable to join us for this event, however we would appreciate your help in supporting your child to prepare for the session. Please help them select a text they would like to share and then complete the attached 'Book Talk' sheet with them. Older children can prepare their own paragraph if they would prefer. Please feel free to scribe for younger children.

We are asking that these are returned to school with a copy of the book the children would like to share by Tuesday 30th January 2024 so that they can practice the presentation of their 'book talk' in school.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any questions.
Thank you for your continued support.

Kind Regards

Ms Frampton
